

Khalid Husain is a Senior Director and member of the Responsible Investment team at Nuveen, a TIAA Company. His responsibilities include working with the Responsible Investment team on environmental, social and governance (ESG) investing issues. His scope of work includes ESG integration across asset classes, ESG product development and support, low carbon and green issues, reporting and disclosure and working across business areas to enhance ESG-related topics. Mr. Husain joined the TIAA organization in 2014. Prior to joining TIAA, he worked for ICF International, providing technical and strategy consulting analysis and recommendations to a number of Fortune 500 companies on climate change, energy, environmental management and broader sustainability issues. Mr. Husain holds a Masters in International Affairs with a focus on Economic Development and Environmental Governance from Columbia University and a Bachelor of Science (Honors) in Earth Sciences from McGill University.